Introduction to the Main Campus

Cambridge College opened its campus in Boston's historic Charlestown in Fall 2017. Located in the heart of this vibrant neighborhood, the campus sits in the original home of the quintessential New England dairy company H.P. Hood and Sons, and is part of a mixed-use master plan strategy for the several acre site. The modern and expansive campus offers a wide array of student amenities including, but not limited to:

- A one-stop location for all administrative and transactional services;
- multiple gathering spaces for students to lounge and study;
- flexible, state-of-the-art classrooms and science labs;
- ample free parking;
- the CC Store; and
- the CC Bistro.

The overall Hood Business Park site is becoming home to over 1.2 million square feet of development featuring residential, retail, and open spaces, as well as improved pedestrian connections to the adjacent communities.

The Hood Park campus is easily accessible, via public transit or automobile, from communities throughout Greater Boston and the surrounding areas. Our Boston campus is conveniently located in close proximity to downtown Charlestown and landmark development projects such as Assembly Row and the Schrafft Center. Cambridge College is excited to have its central campus situated in this dynamic community that is fast becoming a mecca for some of Boston's leading companies in finance, education, health care, technology and more.

Housing — Cambridge College does not require or provide dormitories and/or student housing, nor does it have responsibility to find or assist enrolled students in finding housing.
