

Master of Education

Psychological Studies

• CIP code 422803 • 36 credits, 5 terms full-time • non-licensure

Program Description

Psychological Studies is a non-licensure graduate program that introduces students to a broad range of psychological perspectives, with a strong commitment to an evolving multicultural society.

Learning Outcomes

Students are exposed to the principles of counseling. They learn about assessment, resources, cultural and racial dynamics, roles on interdisciplinary teams, ethics, and relevant laws. They learn about small group dynamics and processes, and how leadership styles influence group process. Students have flexibility to choose courses to support their particular interests in the field.

Careers and Further Study

Graduates may be eligible for advancement in human service careers that do not require licensure. They will not be eligible to return to study towards mental health licensure at the CAGS level.

Instructional Delivery

This is an online program. Courses are five weeks in length, and there are eight sessions per year. This non-licensure program is offered in a 100% asynchronous online format, and there is a strong focus on engaging students in a dynamic and interactive learning format. The program is designed for students to take one course per five-week session.

Please note: The Psychological Studies Master of Education program is also offered as an in-seat or hybrid program in Boston. See Psychological Studies on page 263 for details.
